Video Transcript

What connects our people around the world?

It's how we do things.

It's how we interact with our clients – and each other.

It's the Accenture Way.

It's how we collaborate.

How we operate.

How we ensure we live by our core values and abide by our code of business ethics.

It's how we innovate to bring new ideas to our clients.

It is how we consistently fulfill our brand promise to help our clients become high-performance businesses.

At the heart of the Accenture Way are four themes, which come to life in everything we do, every day.

We are passionate about our clients... and go the extra mile to deliver value.

We have the best people... who are team players with a “can do” attitude.

We drive for performance... and work together to make our clients successful.

We build a better future...by participating in the technology ecosystem and engaging with the business community to drive sustainable economic growth.

And through our Skills to Succeed Corporate Citizenship initiative we're equipping half a million people in communities around the world with skills to get a job or build a business.

In everything we do, each and every day, we deliver high performance. That's the Accenture Way
