What is cloud computing?

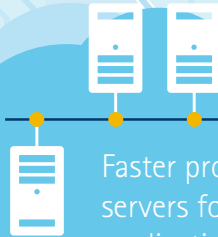

Cloud brings everything as a service. With more simplicity, more scalability and optimized costs, cloud enables your organization to source, scale and deliver technology with maximum flexibility.

Key Facts

Reduced TCO by 20%–40% in average by moving to the cloud

Faster provisioning of servers for business applications – from months to hours

Around 40% of processes identified for further action to transfer to a cloud based model: public, private or hybrid

Our value proposition

Accenture and Orange Business Services have created a strategic alliance on Cloud. By bringing our core and complementary capabilities together in one integrated delivery model, Cloud Services from Accenture and Orange Business Services together can help your organization to:

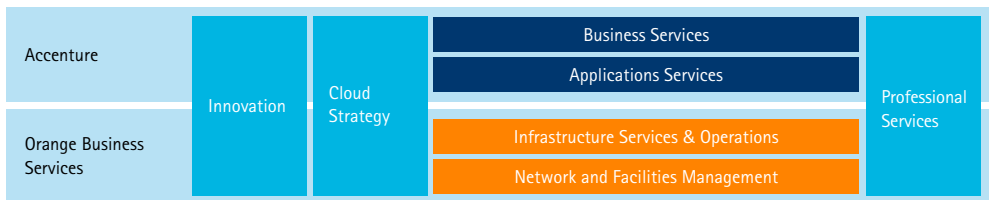

Together we provide access to end-to-end cloud services from application and business layer to infrastructure services. We enable your organization to simplify your IT infrastructure management, increase your market flexibility, while keeping development costs under control.

Under the alliance, Accenture and Orange Business Services will collaborate to support you in France and international, helping your organization to:

- define your cloud strategy
- transform your organization's traditional IT infrastructure into a cloud-based model (private, public or hybrid)
- migrate and manage your applications on a cloud-based infrastructure

Bringing our core capabilities together in one integrated joint delivery model

Our end-to-end cloud solutions incorporate:

Innovation: Enabling your organization to pilot and test projects in areas such as PaaS and Big Data.

Cloud Strategy: Comprehensive strategy to obtain the benefits that cloud can deliver: maximize shareholder and business value, while controlling IT spend.

Business Services: Providing overall leadership, customer relationship management and program governance.

Applications Services: Delivering application deployment, integration and migration services on a cloud-based infrastructure as well as service support and operations for customer applications.

Infrastructure Services & Operations: Transforming your organization's traditional IT infrastructure into a private, public or hybrid cloud.

Our cloud model is:

- a european based & global pay-as-you-go infrastructure
- an integrated environment with automated technology and processes
- an infrastructure that is provisioned dynamically and optimized to provide elastic service on demand, as well as service support and operations for the underlying infrastructure.

Network and Facilities Management:

Underlying transport, storage and secure bandwidth services such as Business VPN Galerie as well as fail-over and disaster recovery.

Professional Services: Leveraging system integration and technology consulting services to meet specific business needs.
