How Accenture Helped Microsoft

Expanded Accenture BPO footprint as part of its "One Finance" global finance and procurement transformation program.

Added financial planning and analysis services to Microsoft's global subsidiaries and are using predictive analytics to help model financial scenarios and analyze the impact of product price changes.

Standardized and optimized procurement and finance processes for more than 90 international subsidiaries.

Freed up personnel's time to focus more on value-added activities.

Achieved cost reduction of 35 percent.

How Accenture Helped BP

Teamed with the global energy company to consolidate and run its finance and accounting function across Europe and North America.

Cultivated a 20-year-long partnership and constantly expand the partnership into new units, geographies and services.

Reduced financial operating costs by 35 percent (even though work volumes doubled) and F&A unit costs were halved.

Standardized reporting and used advanced analytics among all oil clients on the SAP platform, thereby providing each client with cost and performance synergies and greater insights into the business.

How Accenture Helped Cisco Systems

Reinvented Cisco's approach to statutory and tax support for local entities and new markets by creating a new centralized, integrated model that reduced risk while improving quality and compliance.

Standardized processes that use a common set of information flowing to and from its local operations, allowing the local experts to do their jobs efficiently and effectively while offering uniformity at the global level.

Enabled Cisco to enter new markets faster, less expensively and with lower risk of being noncompliant in a local geography.

Delivered savings of approximately $5M per annum.
