Rafael Alvarez, CEO, Genesys Works
The easy thing for corporations to do is to give money. With the Skills to Succeed program, Accenture is now committed to really invest their time and their expertise.

Hector Avellaneda
I went from working at a sandwich shop to being the first college graduate in my family.

Trip Allport, Accenture
Management consultants, business people, really working side by side.

You know, from there, the fire of ambition will take over.

Marlene Sathekge
I had a lot to learn. Trying to get a business going. It was extremely tough.

Dr. Harold P. Freeman, President/CEO, Patient Navigation Institute
By 2015, Accenture’s Skills to Succeed initiative will equip 700,000 people around the world with the skills to get a job or build a business.

Jessy Ruth Mary
My family, they thought, Wow! This girl has changed a lot.

Rafael Alvarez, CEO, Genesys Works
How simple it is, at the right time, with the right opportunity and the right guidance, to have this kind of impact.

Jessy Ruth Mary
They gave me the confidence to get my job. Now I have to go higher and higher.

Hector Avellaneda
In the next ten years, I'll be running my own company.