Speaker My name is Andra Stoica and I'm the coordinator of a team which works on a finance project. I've been at Accenture for almost six years. I like the fact that we do all sorts of activities together - we can write for the magazine, be involved in charitable activities, participate in the marathon if you're into sports, plant trees or cook. There are lots of activities you can do at Accenture. I like cooking a lot, I especially like to bake cookies. I like listening to music, reading and I also like making jewelry. My colleagues encourage me a lot, especially when it comes to cooking and they're very happy because I always "test" my new recipes with them. They're looking forward for my upcoming birthday, because I make cookies for the whole team.
