

BE YOURSELF, MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Daan Data Scientist

Question: Hi Daan we are curious, who would invite you to your dream dinner party?

Daan: I'd compose a mix. On the one hand Andrew NG and Peter Bill – two pioneers and on the other hand two of my favorite directors Paolo Sorrentino and Quentin Tarantino.

Question: What do you love about your job?

Daan: I love the breadth of it all. We do everything at Accenture from strategy to execution, all the operations even the outsourcing. To some people it might seem a huge corporate machine actually I look at it completely different. For me it's having so much opportunities to develop yourself into, without limitation, you can keep going. And in the end it is not the machine that really makes the difference but how well you get along with your colleagues. If they are nice, if you can work together well. This is what I love the most about my job.

Question: What are you working on at the moment?

Daan: I'm a part of a team working in cutting edge-field: 'artificial intelligence' and there is a lot going on. So there's our clients looking at us to help and guide them along the way to discover what value is in it for them, but at the same time we're building a new business or looking for our place in the market, you have to keep up with all the latest developments.

There's so much going on and it might seem like there's an infinite number of challenges ahead of us sometimes, but it's actually perfect. If I'm not being challenged, then I lose interest and phase out.

Question: Where do you see yourself in five years?

Daan: I have no clue, perhaps that the fun of it.
