

ELEVATE EXPERIENCE

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Grace: Everyday, our teams at Accenture, partner very closely with our clients, to reimagine the way the world works and lives. And today, we've launched our Elevate Experience. It is a 12-hours assessment that allow us to give a sneak peek to our candidates, what we do at Accenture, everyday.

Through the 12 hours, our assessors get to see how the candidates think, problem-solve, bring through their ideas and with that interaction, we can definitely find the best talent for ourselves.

HR has risen to the challenge, to really bring across Accenture in a new way, to inspire the next generation of talent. It is with this great experience, that we hope to be able to find the best talent.

Janssen: Accenture is NVPC's company of good. Through this Accenture's Elevate Experience, NVPC is working with Accenture, to see how we can build a intergenerational community through giving.

Wee Wei: I think the first thing that struck me when I walked into the space is just the size of the pool of candidates that were willing to spend 12 hours with us today. The candidates were able to pick up our methodologies so quickly, bring the problem statement down to a tangible level and actually came up with some very interesting solutions.

Grace: Today we have also woven truly human into every thing that we do. Be it the meditation exercises, the healthy food and yoghurt, be it the reflection exercises, all of these brings live what Accenture really is like – the true Accenture experience.

Geoffrey: What I thought was really remarkable was the fact that when we were going through the different presentations, the level of depth and thinking and how some of the teams really embodied what they learnt through empathy with understanding of problem and double thinking down to the real problem.

Yan Xuan: My experience at Elevate today is that I really step into the shoes of consultants and I got the opportunity to learn from others and also listened to feedbacks to client so I think it also helped me to be able to understand what's the real life of consultants and how to improve my work in the future.

Wee Ching: The whole experience taught me to think outside the box, to step out of my comfort zone, come out with creative and unique solutions, never stop asking why. Thank you Accenture for the real experience today.

Crowd: "Shouts 'Elevate'"