

RELEASE ENTREPRENEURIAL SPIRIT VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Accenture Strategy is a trusted advisor. We solve issues at the heart of our clients' businesses that will help them become future-ready.

What excites me most about Accenture is that I think we're the only player in the industry who is very serious about, you know, unleashing the power of technology in the context of a strategy setting.

When you marry that with a perspective on where emerging technologies are going, it really positions us very differently to transform our clients' businesses.

Accenture is really at the leading edge of innovative thinking to really define the issue and define the value.

You should be prepared to be part of a dynamic team. You will have the ability to experience client engagements that excite you, that motivate you, that drive you.

If the candidates are really looking for the type of work that's by nature innovative and entrepreneurial then I think that this is the place to be; I truly believe so.

Accenture offers entrepreneurship, innovation and exposure, but also gives you a large platform to really develop yourself.

We're looking at the proper mix of breadth of capabilities, depth of capabilities and board level strategy all the way to implementation and outsourcing, and then being able to do that with the appropriate digital content: there's really no other firm that can do that.

At Accenture Strategy, you really are three things: you're a futurist, thinking about where industries are headed, you're one-part pragmatist, thinking about what will really work in a situation, and you're one-part strategist, where you bring all of this together.

Working with a bunch of talent gives me a lot of inspiration.

What makes Accenture different? Is the ability to drive the career growth and to drive diversity amongst experiences.

It gives you a chance to convert it into a reality you can actually see in the market place.

I chose Accenture Strategy because the possibility to engage in more new opportunities and technologies.

With Accenture's new focus on developing the New for everything – I think that's what I want to achieve or associate myself with.
