

Being a Trusted Partner
Video Transcript

Kevin Richards

Managing Director – North America Security Practice Lead; Global Lead Security Strategy & Risk

Most of our clients, and frankly our competitors have viewed this as a technology problem. We recognized very early that this is a business challenge.

We take our industry expertise and our cybersecurity experience and bring it together. We have a truly trusted relationship with that client.

Our experience with helping companies run their infrastructures gives us very practical and pragmatic insights to understanding that a decision at the beginning has a very material impacts overtime.

We bring it all together; our clients benefit from those experiences.