

POSSIBLE

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Accenture has provided me with possibilities. In fact, during my career, I have worked in 9 different jobs across four industries with clients from Energy companies to Telcos to Startups. I've had roles where I led large client and Accenture teams. And now, in my current role I work with a different Communications, Media and Technology client every week demonstrating how the shift to New Technologies happens.

Thanks to a leader who, early on, challenged me to seek new possibilities when I wasn't sure where my career would go, I've had amazing opportunities with supportive mentors. And the best part is that I feel it is just now beginning.

In turn, I coach others to see and adopt the art of what's possible while being able to articulate their own version of success.

I thrive because people here are genuine in wanting to help me make my version of success possible.
