

MAKING A DIFFERENCE WITH ACCENTURE CONSULTING

Thank you for your interest in a role at Accenture. My name is James and I'm a Talent Organization Manager in the Communication, Media and Technology practice based in Sydney. We're looking for consultants to join our practice across various levels and it's great the you are interested.

So why Accenture? Everyday we're supporting our client in Asia-Pacific and beyond, solve big problems and make big changes. We work with all levels of their business from the C-suite down. We are working with our clients to deliver digital transformation, utilizing methods such as design thinking. Our client relationships are great and there's a real sense of partnership as we work together to tackle their business challenges. In addition to customer needs, employees are expecting a much more digital and tailored career and we're helping our client organisations to meet those expectations.

The Accenture experience is truly global, my colleagues are currently supporting well-known client in Asia, North America, South America and are learning new skills and training courses across Asia, India and Europe. Our employees really are the heart of our organisation. At Accenture, our leadership understand that to support our fast moving clients we need to keep our skills relevant. There's a strong sense of keeping up with the latest methods and market research so we really do understand our clients.

So really exciting time to get involved with Accenture Consulting and we look forward to hearing from you.

Like what you are hearing?

Want to know more?

Visit: Accenture.com/careers