Ongelique Sherman, Senior Functional Analyst

Fun Fact: Purse designer

It's great to be in AFS and I think they do a really good job of setting a high bar for expectations with our work, but they also set a very high bar with nurturing their people. It's very important to be your whole self at work. It shouldn't be like an on off switch where you have to turn off your personality when you enter the office doors and then you're free when you're, you get off at five o'clock.

Ernie Stevens, Senior Manager

Fun Fact: Trilingual

Our people are our assets so we, we invest heavily in that, they are the face of Accenture to our clients. We are a partnership between our executives and our analysts and our consultants, the true engine behind what we do.

Roy Lee, Digital Strategist

Fun Fact: Sock fanatic

What I love about working at Accenture Federal Services is really the ability to make an impact with all the types of clients that we serve. There's this awesome large global non-profit and they have a great Career Assistance Navigation Program, I had the opportunity to be able to help them make a change, I really adapted this program into the digital world. Now we're using this brand new website with a whole new Content Management System helping them better serve their beneficiaries. And that's work that matters

Meredith Hale, Grants Technical Lead

Fun Fact: Trains patrol horses

One of the things that I like the best of Accenture is there's a lot of great diversity both in background education as well as just people's experience. But I had never worked on ServiceNow before, I started using it as a platform for my client's Grants Management System all around the world. There's so many new exciting opportunities not only with ServiceNow but some of the other technologies that are coming to light in AFS.

Mike Tanner, Mobile Lead

Fun Fact: Mud Run expert

Accenture Digital as a whole is growing within the federal space and that's Analytics, Interactive as well as Mobility, we're diving deep into the data that our federal agencies have and trying to find ways where we can streamline their business processes, save them time and money. We're designing user experiences that are the most intuitive for our customers. They're buying smart phones they're using custom apps which our teams are building.

Adam Chandler, Digital Consultant

Fun Fact: Burger connoisseur

Accenture is investing in a digital design studio here in Washington D.C., the digital design studios will help Accenture lead from the front in delivering human centered experiences for our government clients and for the public sector as well. Being able to open up your phone and check your tax return status or being able to track suppliers for ground troops around the world.

Natalie Learner, Technology Consulting Manager

Fun Fact: College rugby player

I believe in Accenture's core value of stewardship; at Accenture we have different employee resource groups which are groups of people who have maybe a common interest or they have a common background. I'm involved with our Hispanic American Employee Resource Group, I'm also involved with our LGBT community, with our African American Employee Resource Group and it really provides you a small tight-knit community of people that you can count on and that form your network within a large organization.

Ongelique Sherman, Senior Functional Analyst

We are a people company and so we value you know your passions, whatever it is unique to you. It's all about getting out of your comfort zone and once you do that the sky is the limit.
