

WORK WITH PURPOSE

Hi, I'm Taylor Lemke-Berry and I'm a Management Consultant in the Supply Chain and Operational Excellence Practice in Australia. It's an exciting place to grow and learn your skills while contributing to solving complex problems across CMT. We're working with our clients to bring cutting-edge business transformation and operational excellence value while leading enterprise wide solutions that are process led, issue-based and outcome driven.

I've been to lead and contribute to several different projects throughout my career from shared services implementation, continuous improvement, business transformation and operational excellence. Accenture's reach is worldwide with trainings and overseas locations to supporting clients across the globe.

The Supply Chain and Operational Excellence practice is supportive, energizing and always looking to make sure we bring the best to our clients. This is the time to join Accenture Consulting and we look forward to hearing from you.

Like what you are hearing?

Want to learn more?

Visit our Communications, Media and Technology careers page at accenture.com.au/cmtcareers