Skills To Succeed At Accenture In India

There is no better way of giving back to our communities
Than teaching a skill to someone who is keen to learn and grow

Ajay Vij, Managing Director for Geographic Operations, India, Accenture

At Accenture, Corporate Citizenship is an on-going journey.

We are committed to making a sustainable and measurable difference to the world in which work and live.

Akash Sethi, Executive Director, Quest Alliance

It's been really fulfilling to work with Accenture because I think they have the ability to listen to their partners. They have the ability to bring a lot of knowledge capital.

Ajay Vij, Managing Director for Geographic Operations, India, Accenture

Our global Corporate Citizenship initiative - Skills To Succeed - focuses on building skills that will enable people to get a job or build a business.

Chetna Sinha, Founder, Mann Deshi

The whole idea was that in rural India first, women need a different type of training and second to set up the business. And now with this support from Accenture Mann Deshi is creating a replicable model.

Ajay Vij, Managing Director for Geographic Operations, India, Accenture

In the last five years, Accenture has been able to impact 700000 people globally to get a job or become an entrepreneur.

Vijay, Beneficiary, Quest Alliance

After joining Skills to Succeed program I got a job and started supporting my family.

Surekha, Beneficiary, Mann Deshi Foundation

The happiest moment in my life was when I received the 'Adarsh Mann Deshi Udyag Award' in 2012

Suma , Beneficiary, Quest Alliance

My happiest moment was when I gave my first salary to my parents

Ajay Vij, Managing Director for Geographic Operations, India, Accenture

Our Corporate Citizenship program enables our employees to give back to society by offering time, skills, financial assistance or a combination of these.

Sudhakar Pasupuleti, Volunteer, Accenture
