

ACCENTURE DIGITAL ACCELERATORS FOR PUBLIC SERVICE TRANSFORMATION

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

November 2019

Public service digital and technology leaders are under pressure. To modernise their core, spend less, operate faster and more securely and with agility.

And to deliver more engaging and easy-to-access services to citizens.

Legacy enterprise systems are inflexible and make it difficult to address these challenges.

Modernising the core used to involve armies of technologists spending time developing technology not directly related to business outcomes.

So, what's an alternative journey? You ADAPT.

We created the Accenture Digital Accelerators for Public Service Transformation for those that need to meet the challenge of digital change at their own pace.

ADAPT is an accelerator that combines pre-integrated new IT with operational support services. From day one, it's extensible, customisable and modular; providing protection for the future. It complies with ASD Information Security Manual controls, supports modern platform architecture, such as microservices and serverless, and is backed by a team of highly-skilled experts.

In fact, ADAPT delivers in one week what would otherwise be designed, built, tested and delivered in months.

ADAPT drastically reduces the delivery risk of digital services, achieves substantial operations savings and delivers rapid results. Most importantly, it ensures digital and technology leaders remain in the driver's seat by minimising the risk of vendor lock-in or the need for material, ongoing and dedicated budget measures.

The more solutions that are run on ADAPT, the less it costs per solution and the faster outcomes can be achieved.

Which means ADAPT enables you to concentrate on building engaging citizen experiences rather than having to wrestle with technology.

When you're ready to consider a new digital platform or to transition your current platform to the cloud, work with us on a proof of concept.

ADAPT; future-proofed technology delivered in your way.
