

WHEN SHE RISES

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

When equality is priority, a woman rises. And when she rises, the workplace is better for everyone. She is four times more likely to rise, in a company that values diversity. She's three times more likely to rise, where there are women in leadership. She's more likely to rise where there's a women network. And where it's more likely to rise, men are more likely to rise too. If a woman is not judged by the way she looks, if she has flexible hours, if her boundaries are respected, a woman is more likely to rise. And when a woman rises, we all rise. At Accenture, our goal is a gender balanced workforce by 2025. To all who strive for equality, our research will help guide the way.
