

MINED OVER MATTER. THE FUTURE OF AUTONOMOUS OPERATIONS.

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

In 2035, we live in a world where mining operations are neither seen nor heard.

Yet they are experiencing unprecedented levels of efficiency.

They are attracting gifted students from the best colleges, to a workforce where employees operate safely with a shared purpose.

It is a world where our mines give back to the planet and steward our resources for the long term, whilst investing in local communities and providing opportunities for development.

They are respected, responsible and always innovating.

This, is the new world of mining, powered by autonomous operations
