

THREADS THAT BIND

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Should fashion cost the Earth?

More than 150 Billion garments are manufactured worldwide each year. The annual global spend of fashion equates to the GDP of the world's 126 poorest countries.

How can we promote sustainable ethical practices in the clothing supply chain.

Accenture's The Dock has released new research on how to tackle one of the great challenges in the manufacturing world.

How to use technology to bring transparency and traceability to the clothing industry.

This is innovation to help improve the way the world works and lives.
