

INCLUSION & DIVERSITY: MOYINOLUWA'S IDENTITY STORY

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Text on screen Family, friendship, femininity.
My ID minute. Moyinoluwa Apapa.

Moyinoluwa [00:00:15] So I moved here when I was 14

Text on screen I have different levels of home.

Moyinoluwa [00:00:23] So there's 'home', there's 'home home' and there's 'home home home'. I used to say 'home' was London, 'home home' was West Midlands and then 'home home home' was Nigeria. I've just been surrounded by women my whole life. I just I love when women are, you know, they're being bad-asses. Starting with my mom, and she's, you know, she's not like a super corporate woman, but she has achieved so much in her personal life. I think when I hear amazing stories of things that women do, it just really empowers me, and makes me feel like I can I can do these things as well.
