

WHAT IS LIFE LIKE FOR PEOPLE RIGHT NOW?

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Speaker 1 (00:05):

It's quite like a small industry in Glasgow, everyone sorta knows everyone, so it's quite easy to get a job and coffee, once you've got one.

Speaker 1 (00:12):

There you go. See you later, have a good day.

Speaker 1 (00:14):

Think we were just at the pub one night, and then we just saw each other about all the time, and became pals. And then ended up being colleagues.

Speaker 2 (00:20):

Yeah. It's just Glasgow, it's the drinking man's Las Vegas.

Speaker 3 (00:23):

(laughs)

Speaker 2 (00:23):

Everybody just meets in the pub. We got a, a big mix, because we're quite vegan friendly. Majority o' the people that come in are not vegan. They are conscious of the environment. I mean, we just had like one of the best summers we've ever had, and if that's not Climate Change, I don't, (laugh) I don't know what is.

Speaker 3 (00:39):

[crosstalk 00:00:39].

Speaker 2 (00:39):

It was like sunny for like two months.

Speaker 1 (00:42):

Yeah.

Speaker 2 (00:43):

And that doesn't happen.

Speaker 4 (00:44):

(laughing)

Speaker 5 (00:44):

(laughing)

Speaker 4 (00:44):

What cute monkey. [inaudible 00:00:54]
Welcome.

Interviewer (00:56):

[Inaudible 00:00:56]

Speaker 4 (01:00):

And me? (laughs) 1941. The date is on the best mark. [crosstalk 00:01:06] underneath forty one.

Speaker 5 (01:07):

It was noon at sometimes.

Interviewer (01:10):

Jimmy what's your hopes for the future? in the design of every kind of experience.

Speaker 5 (01:12):

There's fresh supper on Sundays.

Speaker 4 (01:13):

(laughs)

Speaker 5 (01:13):

(laughs)

Interviewer (01:13):

What's your hoping?

Speaker 6 (01:18):

And what do you want for dinner? Come here.

Speaker 8 (01:20):
[inaudible 00:01:20]

Speaker 6 (01:20):
Do you want-

Speaker 6 (01:21):
In my household there is a [crosstalk 00:01:25]
which is five months old and I've got a five year old and my husband.

Speaker 8 (01:31):
[Inaudible 00:01:31]

Speaker 6 (01:31):
Can you sit there for one second?

Speaker 6 (01:32):
There is not enough time in the day to get things done. It's hard especially with two kids. You feel like you're constantly chasing your tail. You can't kind of like bypass things quite a lot.

Speaker 9 (01:44):
(whistles) Go! Chop chop chop chop! He's a Havanese which is the national dog of Cuba. I would say a Bolognese as well which is from Bologna but it's, it would just really s- little bit that size. Like when I'm by them that size to take Hamet for a walk.

Speaker 9 (02:05):
Yes, in July em, in about my health scare eh I took a heart attack, eh, and there wasn't room
after letting the dog out, giving him his breakfast, and it was all right all wrong. It... It was as quick as that you could've clutched your fingers. Em, I'm the kind of guy you would find quietly checking emails when on the holiday, that sort of thing. That whole save the things to me has not stopped.

Speaker 10 (02:29):
I just graduated junior this May. Um, and then since then I've been working in hospitality ever since. Most my money goes on rent and then food, and then probably going out. You know maybe I spend money on clothes, I buy like loads of like stuff online second hand, probably wear a lot of the clothes as well.

Speaker 11 (02:57):
My life's goin' with no real intentions of doing anything and it was my dad's past that encouraged me to want to work on eh cars.
Emily, my oldest daughter was born, I was 19 years old. So, still very young myself eh, very naïve and Sophia came along two years later and I was 21. This year has been tough for everyone coming off lockdown and stuff like that.
I've also had my own hardo's along the way em,
the passing of my dad. It runs throughout the year you know I mean, so I would say my plate is very full you know. Coz obviously I've got what commitments, I've got my new house, I've got my two children, I've got children on the way you know, when people are shocked to see I paid it at that age [inaudible 00:03:39] they keep you going, and I couldn't ask for better children.
