

WHAT DO PEOPLE EXPECT FROM ORGANIZATIONS?

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Speaker 1 (00:00):

You put in a lot of effort to be, like, sustainable, to be, like, carbon neutral or, and it's just, aye, everybody does it but I feel like it doesn't make any difference-

Speaker 2 (00:25):

Mm-hmm (affirmative).

Speaker 1 (00:25):

... 'cause there's still gonna be, like, I don't know, tire incineration factories or whatever.

Speaker 2 (00:26):

Mm-hmm (affirmative).

Speaker 3 (00:26):

I don't think the companies do c-, care as much as they maybe should.

Speaker 4 (00:30):

Big business is often forced to make changes rather than getting on the front foot.

Speaker 5 (00:34):

I think they should be putting more into it. They're selling this stuff, so they should be putting more into the environment, especially the ones that are s-, making the plastic crap stuff.

Speaker 6 (00:42):

(laughs)

Speaker 5 (00:42):

Know what I mean?

Speaker 7 (00:50):

I think we've all got a part to play in it and and I do definitely think that companies that are delivering do also have a part to play in it.

Speaker 2 (00:57):

The waste that I, you know, the waste that I produce in my life is minuscule in comparison to, and I think I do make sustainable choices. Like I do use reusable products but I'm still, like, a tiny, tiny amount in comparison to these corporations.

Speaker 8 (01:12):

I would like to know that, like, all of my, like, electricity comes from renewables. I want to know that my heating comes from renewables. I want to know that my house is, like, properly made so that I'm not letting out energy that I don't need to.

Speaker 5 (01:24):

I would take them, the, the CEOs of the companies, get them all together and take them on a wee expedition.

Speaker 4 (01:31):

It would be nice just to see some, as I would say, stepping up and really leading with this is why, why we're doing stuff.

Speaker 5 (01:37):

Take them to the coral reefs. I would do that. I'd go right round the whole of British isles, but I think somebody 's already doing that.

Speaker 6 (01:43):

Aye.

Speaker 3 (01:43):

Big supermarket chains, um, they're not short of a few pence, do you know what I mean? But obviously the corporate machine is obviously just gonna keep turning and they're gonna become hungry for more and more money. That's what businesses do. Businesses generate money.

Speaker 8 (01:55):

Corporations are gonna be the ones who possibly make our world uninhabitable.

Speaker 5 (01:59):

Instead of putting an advert on the telly, put something about what's him-, happening with the climate and how we can help. Just advertise it. There's no advertisement anywhere. They don't know. My dad doesn't know a lot.

Speaker 6 (02:10):

I know nowt about that.

Speaker 5 (02:10):

He doesn't know about anything.

Speaker 6 (02:12):

Yes, I do.

Speaker 3 (02:13):

Money and greeds is not what makes the world go round, you know? I think it's a, c-, maybe boils down to that.

Speaker 3 (02:20):

The world needs a change. Not for me but for my children and for their children and their children's children.
