

SCALING ESG SOLUTIONS IN FASHION

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Our planet's environmental and social boundaries have been pushed to the limit.

And while the fashion industry has added to some of the world's greatest challenges, within it lies some of our most promising solutions.

Environmental, Social and Governance provide an opportunity for a reset in the industry – leveraging sustainability innovation and fortifying our businesses.

- We can rebalance carbon through renewable energy and other measures.
- We can reimagine raw materials, reducing negative impacts and eliminating hazardous chemicals.
- We can recognize the value of our workforces around the world through empowerment and education.
- We can reassess our metrics, and build the data systems these efforts require.
- And we can reinvent fashion's value chain, closing the loop as we build circularity and engaging consumers in new responsible business models.

There's never been a greater opportunity for the fashion industry to collaborate and drive both sustainability and profitability.

Let's commit to scaling solutions that accelerate our reset and reinvigorate our industry. Let there be change.
