analytical & ambitious

In conversation with Peter Weckesser
Chief Digital Officer &
Member of the Executive Committee
Schneider Electric

What one word describes you best?

What probably describes me best as a person is I am a very analytical person, so I believe I am a pretty good listener. Would also say I very much like to set ambitious targets for myself and the team and then motivate the team and myself to achieve these targets.

How Schneider Electric has demonstrated success in its digital transformation?

Digital is really not only the introduction of couple of new tools but it's a company transformation. Our CEO has digital on top of his agenda and made that a key topic for the Schneider transformation.

How is digital enabling and accelerating the sustainability transformation at Schneider Electric?

Schneider Electric strategy is really if I describe in a little bit in an over simplified way is built on key three pillars. One is electrification. The second pillar is Sustainability, and thirdly the third pillar is Digital, and these three pillars are extremely closely connected with each other.
