High performance. Delivered.

What's my secret to balancing work and motherhood?

Mariko Taguchi, Manager

I am Mariko Taguchi, Manager in Accenture Japan, and I work at the Tokyo Solution Center of Excellence.

I got the 2015 Core Value Award. After I got this award, many women colleagues asked me about how do I manage the balance of this working and mother life.

I think one of the creative ways is to use whatever you can use. For example, there are some tools we can use. Skype Business. So that we can attend a meeting from my house. Not always to be at the office. So I can manage that kind of way to use the very useful tools.

I usually leave the office at 5pm, and I have time to play with my son.

But still I felt myself to be a core member of my team.

Working here is always challenging, but at the same time very interesting.

I would like to be a role model of other younger working mothers, who will have a child in the future.
