

Liberate your supply chain workforce

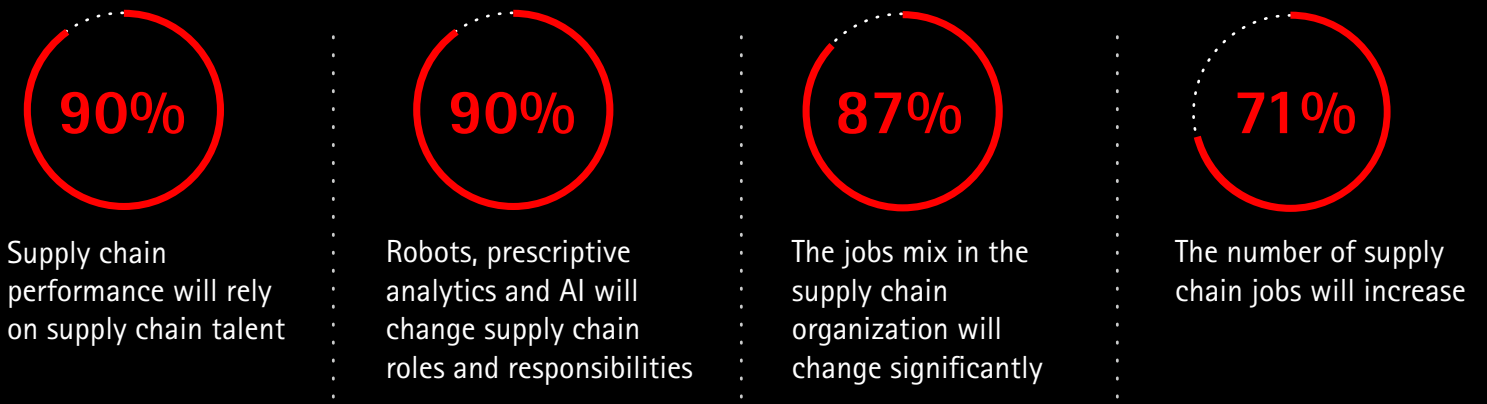

Robots, prescriptive analytics and artificial intelligence (AI) are unleashing human potential. Are you taking action to embrace them?

High performance. Delivered.

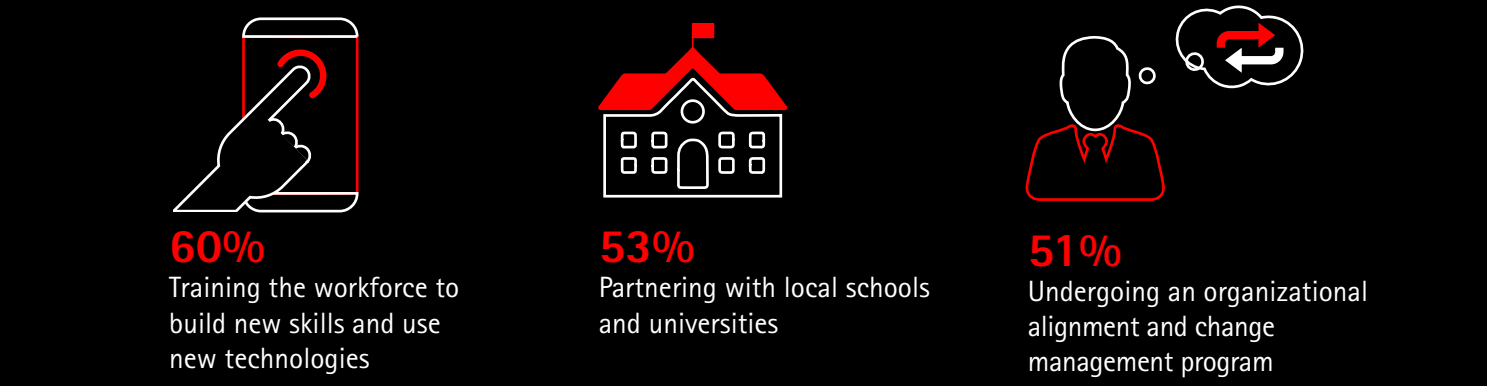

Humans + machines = the multiplier effect

Over the next three years, the majority of supply chain executives agree:

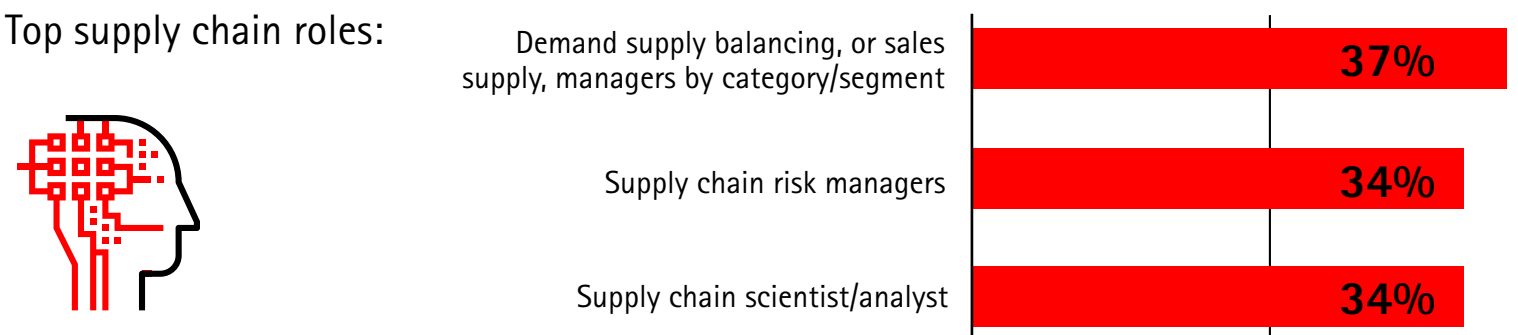

What supply chain initiatives is your organization focused on?

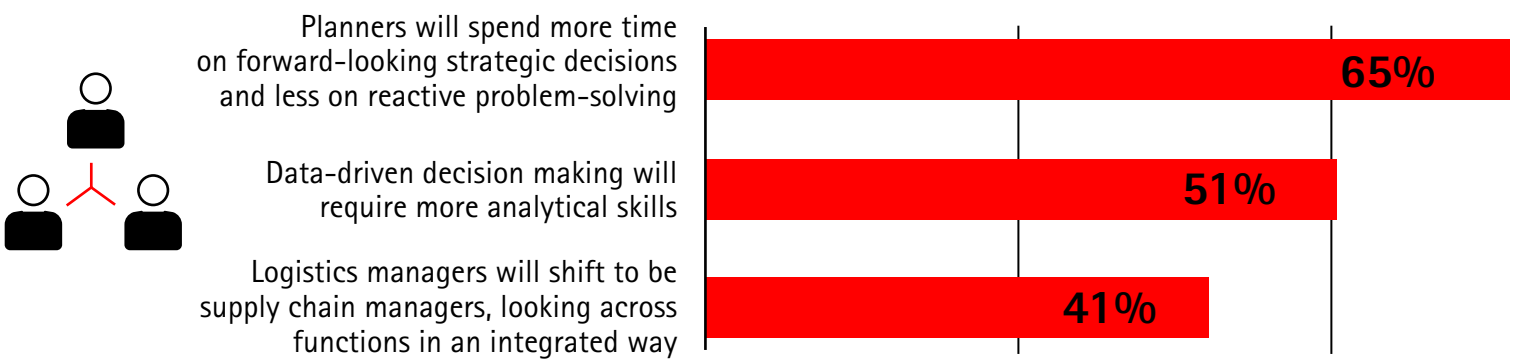

Wanted: Intrapreneurs

The supply chain workforce must move beyond traditional roles and become internal entrepreneurs, or "intrapreneurs." These dynamic innovators proactively identify growth opportunities and manage the risks associated with them.

What does the future of work look like for the supply chain?

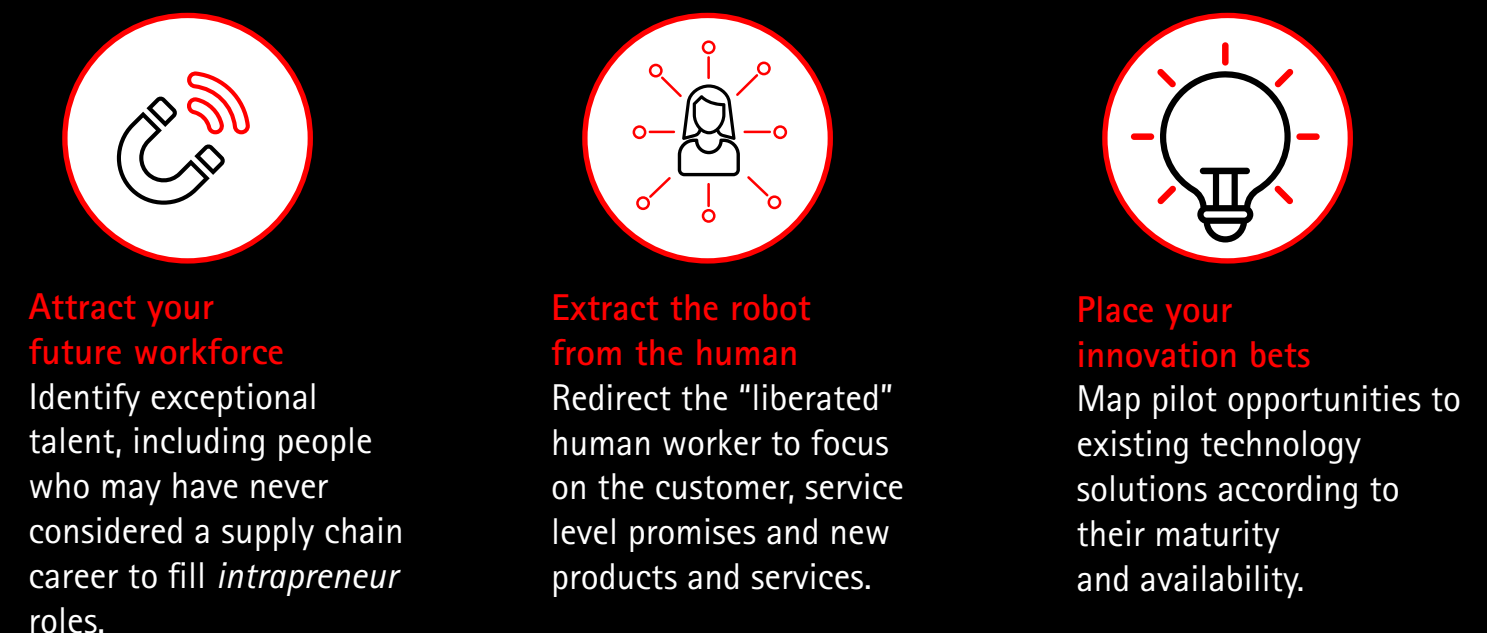

Most significant ways roles will change:

Positioning for success: Think big, start small

Take action now to make the most of these revolutionary technologies:

Learn more about liberating your supply chain workforce potential with our full report:
<https://www.accenture.com/HumanSupplyChain>