

Meet Brian

Being a very technical and hands on person, motorcycles always intrigued me. You've got the cars around you, you've got what's incoming, you've got the weather that may be impacting you. There's a lot of things you have to juggle and stay focused on.

Just like the motorcycles, when I get into the security space, I'm able to get into the technical infrastructure. I can look at how things are designed and we can really take apart what infrastructure the client has to see what are the security weaknesses associated with it and make the appropriate recommendations to secure that.

My name is Brian Urbanski and I am a senior manager at Accenture.

BE YOURSELF, MAKE A DIFFERENCE.
