

ACCENTURE SUPPLIERS-YOUR RESPONSIBILITY: IMPROVING THE WAY THE WORLD WORKS AND LIVES

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Responsibly managing the supply chain is an ethical obligation for all companies.

At Accenture we know that our corporate responsibility requires smart and progressive thinking, teamwork and a continued focus on execution.

That's why we follow a clearly defined ethical approach to encourage the highest standards within our global network of suppliers.

Our long-standing commitment to the United Nations Global Compact reflects Accenture's commitment to:

- Business practices that improve the sustainability and the environmental impact of our supply chain.
- Helping our suppliers understand and live our ethical values and our commitment to supporting and respecting internationally recognized human rights.
- And helping improve social and environmental impact for communities around the world.

As businesses evolve and change we need to work together to maintain this commitment.

This is why we require our suppliers:

1. To provide information to us, when asked, to demonstrate the steps you are taking to ensure that slavery, forced labour and human trafficking is not taking place in any part of your own business or in any of your supply chains.
2. To support our six core values: Client Value Creation, One Global Network, Respect for the Individual, Best People, Integrity and Stewardship.
3. To follow the principles in our Code of Business Ethics and complete our Ethics and Compliance training, if asked.
4. To adhere to our Supplier Standards of Conduct and apply these Standards to your own suppliers.
5. And, to demonstrate transparency in your environmental reporting, by setting measurable targets, and actions that reduce environmental emissions.

Working with Accenture is more than a global business partnership. It's an opportunity to help improve the way the world works and lives.

Let's set the example, together.
