

Healthcare organizations believe machine learning will affect the future of work

Augmenting employees through machine learning will not only mean doing more and better work, but also managing far more process variability and unpredictability.

Just as products and services are becoming personalized to meet individual preferences, in the future, MLEPs will likewise personalize work.

● STRONGLY AGREE ● AGREE