How Do You Bring the Same Level of Excellence to Employees That You Bring to Customers?

How Do You Bring the Same Level of Excellence to Employees That You Bring to Customers?

From oil and gas to healthcare, sports and entertainment, and beyond, industry leaders around the globe rely on world-leading enterprise software and services from SAP SE to keep their businesses running smoothly, their customers in focus, and their people performing at their best. When it comes to its own human capital management, SAP wants the same level of speed, insight, and flexibility that it provides to customers. It is no surprise, therefore, that SAP runs SAP® SuccessFactors® solutions.

During the migration to the SAP SuccessFactors Employee Central solution, SAP worked with longtime partner Accenture to help ensure a smooth transfer using Accenture Data Comparison Manager – built specifically to support data validations between any legacy system and SAP SuccessFactors solutions. As a result, SAP was able to simplify the data migration and reconciliation, reducing the time needed to run full validation cycles from more than three weeks to as quickly as one week. Not only did this help reduce costs, mitigate the risk of errors, and increase control – it also got SAP’s people up and running faster on the HR tools they needed to succeed and serve customers better.

“Great innovation is driven by strong partnerships and collaboration. When it comes to enterprise IT, no company is an island. We must work together to provide the very best solutions for our customers – and for ourselves.”

Ralph Schneider, Business Information Officer, SAP SE

SAP and Accenture have collaborated for more than four decades to promote customer success. As an SAP partner, Accenture has been on the front lines in helping customers streamline HR with SAP® SuccessFactors® solutions. This is why, when SAP embarked on its own HR digital transformation with the SAP SuccessFactors Employee Central solution, it used Accenture Data Comparison Manager to get up and running faster.
