

MARY LEGERE - AUSA 2018 - VETERAN PROUD

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

MARY LEGERE: I came to Accenture because I was looking for as close an alignment to the values that I grew up with as a 34-year veteran of the Army. And the values that my Mom and Dad gave me at home. I was looking for that in this next transition with this next team. And when you come to Accenture and you see the respect we have for others, the importance of inclusiveness, the importance of diversity of thought, diversity of people, diversity of talent, the common commitment to one another, the idea of dignity and respect, of paying attention to our client, and of treating our client as our family. These are all common themes if you are a person in the military, whether you are a soldier or a civilian, and you're going to be successful. Those are the things that make teams work well together. I came here and people have asked me "How has your transition been? You must miss the military." I do miss the military. I love the mission, I love the people. I miss the people more than the mission, but I have landed in a perfect organization which brings those same sort of values together, which raises its young people to embrace those kinds of values, and which takes advantage of all the talent that we have, works well as a teams. I'm just really, really thrilled to be here. . .
