Accenture Core Banking Services

Video Transcript

Welcome to Accenture Core Banking Services, our comprehensive collection of solutions and services for the global banking industry. As the established market leader, we're helping banks around the world to reinvent their core banking operations. We're seeing increasing numbers of these vital programs getting the green light.

Our clients know that transforming core banking is the key to growing revenue and rebuilding profitability, fast by becoming truly agile, customer-centric, responsive and efficient. They understand that what's needed today is nothing short of a fundamental strategic and structural change encompassing the processes, procedures and IT that underpin all banking operations.

That's the theory. What's happening in practice? Based on Accenture's experience of over 200 successful core banking transformations worldwide we're seeing six game-changing outcomes:

First, it's the ability to increase revenues by creating, customizing and distributing customer-centric products and services.

It's delighting customers with service, however they want it, while simultaneously reducing complexity and cost-to-serve.

Third, it's about being 100 percent compliant with regulation—now and in the future.

Next, smarter risk management, through greater automation and flexible controls that ensure transparency, delivering the right information at the right time.

Fifth, sustained IT cost reduction by industrializing and simplifying systems across the business that underpins the sixth critical outcome—a streamlined operating model that can speed and facilitate domestic and international M&A integration.

So why choose Accenture Core Banking Services as your transformation partner? What sets us apart is our unparalleled combination of experience, capabilities, global network capacity and cutting-edge IP.

Accenture is a leader in consulting, systems integration, outsourcing and BPO, and we bring end-to-end core banking transformation coverage—from strategic planning to delivery. We've got more than 3,000 dedicated core banking professionals and we invest in innovation that gives us—and our clients—crystal clear benefits. In fact, our core banking software's the best in the business from Alnova, our own solution, to longstanding strategic alliances with market leaders. And crucially, we're a safe pair of hands, with the track record of successful implementations to prove it.

Core banking transformations are just that. They'll reshape your business and its prospects for growth. That's why you need a seasoned partner who can be by your side—at every stage of the journey with an integrated skill-set, we're the complete package, ready to work with you to reduce risk, accelerate results and achieve long-lasting benefits.
