

WHY ACCENTURE?

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

There are two main reasons why I chose Accenture. Number one is the people. Every single person who I talked to had passion in their eyes for what they do. And that's really what I was looking for.

That's one thing I really enjoy about Accenture, the network that you can tap into, which allows you to also build your brand and shape your career path in any way you want.

Number two is the different paths that you can choose. You could do different types of work, different roles, different industries. And that really creates a world of opportunity at Accenture.

A lot of what we do is work collaboratively among our team and with our clients to drive towards an agreed upon solution.

Which means we proactively talk to our clients about their business problems and big picture strategies and provide advisory and delivery services to help them achieve their goals.

We really are a global collaborative company. My day-to-day can really vary a lot.

I am heading into the final few weeks of a project that I've been on, working with a company to do a refresh of their three-year strategy. Not only are we looking at financial performance, but also, exploring many different factors of what they want their future vision to look like.

My typical day starts with the daily call, where we give our updates on our projects and the cool thing about that is we get to work with people all over the world. So, some of my team is here and some of my team is in Argentina, and some of them are in the Philippines.

I chose Accenture because of the learning opportunities. I wanted to work in a fast-paced environment, across a broad spectrum of topics with smart people who are willing to help me learn, and I definitely feel like I've had that opportunity at Accenture.

The biggest skill that I'm learning is how to be flexible. It has been teaching me about how to be an amazing consultant.

Developing a corporate Korea, seeing the world and advising my clients on how to improve their employee experience has been awesome.

I love my time at Accenture. This is anything but a typical day, but in consulting there really isn't a typical day.

And that's why I love my job at Accenture. It's sometimes challenging and I'm not going to lie, sometimes there are levels of stress, but it is never boring. It's always changing, and we know how to not take ourselves too seriously, so we literally work hard and play hard.
