Commercial Banking has faced monumental challenges in recent years. In order to continue thriving, the industry has quickly adjusted to meet the challenges of a changing world.

Accenture saw those challenges as opportunities and became a driving force in helping to change the industry...for the better.

Nikki Stephenson, Head of Credit Products, Regions Bank
We are operating in an environment where the pace of change is only increasing. And they’re the partner that helps you live through that change, that helps you accelerate through that change.

Richard Stein, EVP and Chief Credit Officer, Fifth Third Bank
What really differentiates Accenture is the depth of expertise that can be applied in a practical manner across all elements of commercial banking.

Jared Rorrer - Managing Director - Global Commercial Banking Lead, Accenture
As a former commercial banker, it was clear to me, the first time I looked at Accenture, there was something different here.

Nikki Stephenson:
They understand our culture, they understand what our goals and objectives are, and they help us deliver and they help us execute.

Jared Rorrer:
When I think back to the early parts of the pandemic, what was really surprising to me is how this is a crisis that came and found banks, it started off as a medical crisis, but all of a sudden it became an economic crisis across the globe, and the need to get capital in the hands of customers and businesses to keep them afloat, when everything was locked down...
Nikki Stephenson:
The paycheck protection program represented a critical lifeline for Region's customers. We had to stand up technology solutions processes in a matter of days and weeks.

They were there to support us, whether it be through a technology digital solution, help us develop processes from the ground up. They were there from a resource, and blocking and tackling an execution standpoint for us...

And in a matter of five days, we went from, "This was a medical problem" to, "This is something that we are all going to solve."

Nikki Stephenson:
And then the thing that resonates the most with me is they carried a tremendous amount of passion for delivering.

Richard Stein:
We've used Accenture extensively in the seven years that I've been at Fifth Third, both as Chief Credit Officer and head of the commercial bank. And, the experience has been incredible given the depth of capabilities, the expertise, the partnership that Accenture brings to the table. They've helped us from a commercial lending perspective, from everything from origination, to process, and through, risk identification.

Nikki Stephenson:
And from day one through today, the Accenture commercial banking practice has been by our side, not just as a partner, but delivering as a true teammate.

What's really important about the partnership is that Accenture obviously has a very deep technical bench and that has been critical to our success. More importantly, they've understood since we formed this partnership that an nCino project is really a business transformation.

Jared Rorrer:
We know what great looks like in commercial banking because we've been there, globally, to help our clients identify these issues and work alongside them. Be it develop a new corporate portal, create an embedded finance capability, help them transform in the end to end credit life cycle. We've been there. We know these things.

Josh Glover:
Accenture's knowledge of Salesforce combined with deep credit expertise and nCino expertise is a winning combination.

Richard Stein:
It's the experience and the data, the real world data they can bring to the table to help us make the right strategic decisions.

Nikki Stephenson:
We built a fabulous relationship with Accenture's team via PPP, and now understanding and seeing firsthand that deep expertise in the commercial banking arena, being able to parlay that into customer experience, digital capabilities, digital offerings, technology enhancements. The excitement we have now to take this partnership back to our commercial banking business as usual activities, they've become that true partner for the future.

Join us as we continue to help shape the commercial banking industry of tomorrow.
