

23rd World Petroleum Congress - December 5-9, 2021

We all have hopes for the future.
A future that offers sustainable energy for all.
We can reach that future by changing the conversation.

For the first time since 1987, the United States will host the World Petroleum Congress in the energy capital of the world, Houston, Texas. Home to more than 4,600 energy companies and a global city brimming with culture and personality.

The conversation starts December 5, 2021.

The 23rd World Petroleum Congress offers an extraordinary opportunity to connect global industry leaders. A venue to talk about the challenges and opportunities of the industry and to hear different perspectives. You will interact with some of the world's most influential business and political leaders, participate and lead panels on innovation and be a part of the most synergetic global environments for knowledge exchange.

This is a unique moment in time to shape and influence the future and be energized by conversations about transforming the energy sector.

The theme for the 23rd World Petroleum Congress is Innovative Energy Solutions reflecting the heart and spirit of this congress through robust programming comprised of keynote strategic sessions from global industry leaders and an extensive technical program, to the engaging exhibition floor.

Expect this congress to be an impactful and influential gathering that will shape the energy conversation for years to come.
