

STEVEN BRAEKEVELDT | ACCENTURE VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Are we ready for it?

I don't think so, not at all. We have the Web Summit, they are talking a lot about global warming and sustainability while thousands of people come with the airplanes to talk about global warming. There are many events like that so that means that is still a luxury problem. If it was not a luxury problem, then people would have more drastical measures not to do things.
