

INNOVATION FORUM 2019

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

I'd like you to join me for three days in May at a really special event where some of the world's greatest thinkers and innovators will be coming together in New York to share their insights with a select group of business leaders, and that's you.

People like Sir Tim Berners Lee, the inventor of the worldwide web, CNN broadcaster and geopolitical expert Fareed Zakaria, and the amazing entrepreneur, Mary Lou Jepsen whose personal battle against disease inspired her to develop groundbreaking technologies. In the field of artificial intelligence, we'll be joined by acclaimed experts such as Vivienne Ming, the theoretical neuroscientist, and Sebastian Thrun, a true pioneer of autonomous vehicles whose knowledge of robotics and AI promises to turn flying cars from science fiction into fact.

I'm Paul Daugherty, Accenture's Chief Technology and Innovation Officer, and I'd like to invite you to take part in this event – the latest in a series of highly acclaimed Accenture Innovation Forums.

This will be a rare chance to spend time with pre-eminent experts in areas such as artificial intelligence, digital transformation, industrial internet, blockchain, the future of work, ethics, and even quantum computing.

In addition, there will be many opportunities to network with more than 150 of your peers and with top leaders from Accenture, discussing trends in business and society, and how best to navigate through the epic disruption that we all face.

The executives that attend tell us that the content in the Innovation Forum is unlike any other event, and this is the one meeting each year that they aim to attend.

The Accenture Innovation Forum will take place at Spring Studios, a fresh and exclusive venue in New York City, on May 13th through May 15th.

More details are on this website, but please feel free to reach out to me or the Forum team at any time for more information.

I hope you'll be inspired to join us for this exciting event and very much look forward to seeing you in New York in May.
