

EMOTIONAL AI

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

[00:00:07] In two thousand and seventeen I decided to rejoin book after a break. Although I was mentally prepared for a comeback I knew that the technology that Skip our teens team and ski. I was very apprehensive about would have done into a book after a gap of three years followed my lack of confidence all Duffield up to action for being out of touch with the industry I couldn't crack the job interview was I have initially and wasn't sure what I could do to improve I have these two I could connect with someone and learn the board in the instance of the interviewing and the new ways of booking before restarting the culprits like most of the prospect of employers thought they would have been invested a lot in the Skilling I was looking for guidance on the training programs I could take to double up the skills in my industry and increase myself have been asked and confidence of Enoch it makes that job interviews at a particular step part of it done in Bimini professionals and therefore what with the men to help them but it's fair for to act if even looking to scheme then they end their process at it used to turn out on fine and simple odd insights into the candidates job or Dina's this is their axing to test with their technology expect that it's emotional Analytics is a great example of how we are pushing the boundaries of artificial intelligence applying emotional intelligence voice and occasional recognition and the latest in behavioral science to an important workforce challenge preparing for an interview with Lisa which need to put his also embedded into the emotion and to help job seekers practice what an interview and data but you can prove that interview skills you have putting people in the heart of technology to build of the Sustainable blues you played for women we want to hold them break the studio to.

[00:02:01] And bring new opportunities with the merging technologies like artificial intelligence augmented reality and of those. Help assess my current skills and provide me to think you can know how to better prepare it my experience with the emotions and still it has been great it has helped me in my confidence and been well my fear of ejection.
