

PAUL DAUGHERTY AT ORACLE CLOUDWORLD 2022

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Paul Daugherty [00:00:00] It's really great to be here at Oracle CloudWorld with so many of our team, more importantly, so many of our customers, and with with Oracle, who's a fantastic partner, and looking at where technology is enabling more opportunity for us to drive value together with our partners and with Oracle and with our customers. And we saw it right for the main stage today. A highlight for me was seeing Safra on the main stage telling customer stories about how they are transforming for the future. And then a little bit later on, I did a session talking about the five forces we believe are transforming the next decade. And really, we drilled into the metaverse talking about how, first of all, cloud and then data and AI are megatrends that are driving innovation this decade, but one that people pay a little less attention to is the metaverse. And the metaverse we really do believe will transform the future of customer experience, products and so much more for companies as we look at the next stage of digital so an exciting start to CloudWorld and much more ahead as we have more meetings with Oracle, with our customers and talk about where the future is going.
