Question: Tell me about your experience at Workday Rising

Shaun Higgins

Associate Director, Canada Practice Lead

So just experiencing the feeling of connecting with my clients in person again, which is amazing after the last few years, I think this is my fifth Rising. So to be back again and able to engage with my colleagues as well as my clients has been really rewarding and powerful, and just has me energized for the year ahead with all the opportunities we have in front of us. It's been a really great experience so far.
