

INDUSTRY - FINANCE AND ACCOUNTING: CARLO & GIRLIE/KRISTINE

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

KRISTINE:

Degree in Political Science, Works in Finance and Accounting (points to herself)

KRISTINE:

Hi! I'm Tine. I actually graduated with no background in finance and accounting, yet here I am, able to perform that role. On a daily basis, our operations process invoices, payments, vendor queries, collect receivables, apply cash and reconcile ledgers .

GIRLIE:

Hi I'm Girlie.

Back in 2005, the BPO industry was just starting up. I was hesitant to apply because it would mean I have to give up a very stable job.

But then I took the risk and applied in Accenture and hired the same day. Since that day, I move from one role to another, been promoted multiple times and have traveled to different countries.

I'm Carlo. I lead more than 1000 employees supporting our finance and accounting function for multiple clients globally.

The work we do is about advancing businesses by being a strategic partner through reimagining processes, digital technologies and transforming the workforce. We want to evolve traditional finance and accounting to be an intelligent and purposeful operation by providing flexible and scalable services that address our client's business challenges, covering order to cash, record to report and procure to pay.

The world's leading companies trust Accenture to dramatically improve their finance performance and shareholder value.

GIRLIE:

Accenture really invest in our trainings. At the moment, I'm undergoing my analytics certification. This will help me better manage operations by using data, artificial intelligence and machine learning.

KRISTINE:

As a political science graduate, I had to learn on the job and understand the finance industry and the industry of my client.

What really leveled up my skills was Accenture training on technology like cloud, enterprise resource planning, data, security and dev ops.

CARLO:

Our talents and experiences are the main selling points in finance and accounting. We invest in the skills and expertise of our people by providing them access to globally recognized certification programs that are not readily available in the market.

Add to that we have a community of experts and best in class Accenture Finance Technology Assets that truly drive client value.

Future ready finance and accounting is delivering end to end digitized processes using technology platforms.

KRISTINE:

Technology and innovation play a big role in the future of businesses, and Accenture is leading the way in the finance and accounting industry.

CARLO:

The concept of future ready work is also constantly changing to the needs of the times. Accenture understands this as we continue to create environment where people feel connected, safe and accepted.

We help build workplaces that are flexible enough to support people's needs in order to thrive wherever, whenever, and however we work.

We change the future and how we work and succeed in Accenture.
