

A large, stylized graphic consisting of two overlapping, elongated, arrow-like shapes pointing to the right. The top shape is a lighter shade of purple, and the bottom shape is a darker shade, creating a gradient effect. The text "WOMEN AT ACCENTURE" is centered over this graphic.

WOMEN AT ACCENTURE

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

NAPIN BUDDHARI

Analyst

Napin: The best piece of advice I have ever received is from my own supervisor. She said: "Don't think you're not smart. But don't think you're smart, either."

Be humble, self-confident and eager to learn. Strive to accomplish the goals you have set for yourself. Be tough in the face of adversity.

And always have faith. I am fortunate that Accenture enables me to do so much.

Hi, I'm Napin and I am an explorer.

I'm deeply passionate about traveling. I enjoy both the hustle and bustle of the city and the quiet, lush vibes of the countryside.

I'm a technology consulting analyst under Products, focusing on digital and integration. I help clients harness the power of digital and the latest technologies to enhance their business processes as well as their customers' experiences.

I'm happy that my career in Accenture compliments my love for traveling, as I'm currently working on a global project. I get the chance to interact with some colleagues from Germany, my dream destination.

When and why did you join Accenture?

Napin: I joined Accenture in 2015, fresh out of university. Back then, I saw Accenture as the best place for me to learn new things, explore the world and become a better person.

It was true then and it's still true today.

I have been able to push my career to greater heights through the help of my supervisor, who is also my mentor.

She gave me enough space to work on my own so that I could take charge of my career. At the same time, she gave me timely feedback so I could continuously improve myself.

How does Accenture's culture enable you to create, innovate, research and lead effectively?

Napin: Our culture of inclusion and diversity allows me to express my ideas through the work that I do. Accenture people are receptive to different concepts, regardless of level or tenure. I'm free to share my thoughts without fear of being ridiculed or ignored.

Aside from that, women in Accenture are given an equal voice as men. We are able to do our work without prejudice, and be seen for what we do and think about, rather than for our gender.

Because of that, I'm inspired to become a better version of myself every day.