Remember the convenience of house calls?

What if you had access to your healthcare providers; healthcare claims; pharmacies; health records; family health records; diet; exercise goals; vitals and new providers wherever you call home?

My Integrated Health Manager™

With My Integrated Health Manager (my IHM), Accenture and Avanade demonstrate how to address today's fragmented patient experiences with healthcare services tuned for the way we live on the web and in an increasingly mobile world.

The ultimate front door to health, myIHM will engage patients by making it convenient for them to interact with providers, manage health spending, find new health professionals, or refill and track prescriptions.

MyIHM empowers patients to live healthier by setting goals and tracking diet and exercise or monitoring vital statistics.

With everything integrated securely in the cloud, patients have quick access to both their personal and family records and can communicate with their doctor without having to visit the office.

Using social networks, users can easily keep up to date with health communities and be notified of upcoming events that meet personal interests.

With my Integrated Health Manager, you can improve your patient care, increase loyalty, drive down costs and deliver quality outcomes.
