Video Transcript

Accenture and Avanade are helping businesses improve plant performance and equipment availability while reducing costs. With Accenture Plant Performance Solutions, or APPS, we deliver a process-driven, portal view of critical plant and asset information. Having this essential information aggregated in one place, you can:

- Strategically manage assets with elevated knowledge about overall plant performance,
- Optimize capital spending using readily available equipment health and market data to aid planning and prioritization,
- Decrease asset downtime and associated maintenance costs with detailed data on equipment reliability, real time performance and work history all with a single sign-on and password.

Using real time analytics, exceptions are detected early and events can be proactively managed to prevent unplanned equipment failures and minimize risks.

Immediate access to expert networks helps drive collaboration and gets the right people involved up front. And built in workflows connect people and tasks to resolve issues efficiently.

Using the latest technologies, APPS is the gateway to improved plant performance.
