RACHAEL SERVICE DELIVERY MANAGER

My favourite thing about working at Accenture is the team that I work with. They are a great team, like a family. I've been working with them since I started here 2 years ago. The account that I work on, I've been able to progress quite quickly, keeps it quite exciting on a daily basis.

We've recently moved to an Agile framework on our account, it's been really challenging and really difficult

But the teams have pulled together and it's really good for the client because now we can deliver code more regularly. Always with the client in mind.

I'm actually the social lead on the account that I work on. I organise quite a lot of events. Recently I've set up a virtual pub quiz. Most of my spare time outside of work is focused around music, it's a really, really big part of my life. My husband's a DJ! Mainly I'll go to gigs with my friends and my husband, really just to open up doors for us and the gigs we have just started in Tynemouth. I like working in Newcastle mainly because of the people who are here and there are a lot of different things you can do, the delivery centre is quite diverse as well, we have a lot of social nights, things you can do like go to the gym, there's a good canteen – not that that's everybody's cuppa tea – but it works for me!
