Innovations in artificial intelligence

Video Transcript

Dave Maunsell, Managing Director, Accenture Digital Australia and New Zealand

Over the past couple of years we’ve seen an increase in the applied and very real use of artificial intelligence in everyday business operations. Life Learn has launched an artificially intelligent vet called Sofie and, more recently, Ross, an artificially intelligent lawyer, took over the bankruptcy department of a legal firm in the United States.

Here at Accenture we’re helping our customers get access to additional insights and additional value from both their customer data as well as their enterprise data using artificial intelligence.