Consumer Goods Solution Factory for SAP

Experience matters.

It is reflected in products that meet consumers' needs, distribution that meets retailers' needs and the ability to scale globally and meet local demand.

Knowing their systems, their markets, and their customers, experienced consumer goods companies deliver effectively and efficiently.

Accenture has in-depth experience with SAP, over 30 years of experience

We've been innovating, developing and deploying solutions around the globe... in fact, we devoted approximately 60,000 man days to SAP's largest implementation and roll out for a private US corporation operating in 65 countries worldwide.

Fabio Vacirca (on camera):

In all our sectors, so the traditional CPG made of food, beverage, health and personal care, as well as, in the specific sub sectors like fashion and agri, we deliver services at the core of our clients business.

Solution-defining engagements have uniquely positioned Accenture to take SAP implementation to the next level.

We have jointly invested with SAP to develop a global network of innovation centers to make research into such technology advances as HANA and mobility accessible to clients at the local level.

Fabio Vacirca (on camera):

Specifically, on the three domains of analytics with HANA, mobility with Sybase acquisition and Cloud, we are investing a lot, alongside with SAP to update our capabilities and serve our client at best.

Keith Boone (on camera):

In today's volatile market, companies are looking for smart ways to derive more value from their SAP based system.

With the demand for SAP increasing along with an appetite for standardization and simplification...Accenture has sharpened its focus on execution and innovation, co-locating SAP development and implementation resources with Consumer Goods and Services industry professionals to streamline delivery, lower costs and reduce risks for our clients.

Keith Boone (on camera):

Collaboration is key in how we deliver our solutions. We use collaboration technologies such as the EX90 technology which is a hi-def video feed between our factories and the client locations ... The clients get to see it. They get to feel and touch and understand what's going on in a real time basis within the factory for SAP.

And Consumer Goods clients benefit quickly from the application of industry-specific, pre-configured, leading practice solutions, diagnostics and accelerators ... to meet their business's unique needs.

Accenture understands that experience matters. The combination of 30 years of SAP and industry experience enables Accenture to tailor just the right solution for each and every client.
