

Is Yours a Procurement Organization of One?

Leading companies are leveraging digital to create an entirely new way of doing business

High performance. Delivered.

Within the Next 5 to 7 Years

Digital platforms and technologies will totally transform procurement organizations. Procurement will soon be:

- Operating at radically lower cost and risk
- Driving significantly more strategic value
- Redefining even the most fundamental of procurement processes

How Will You Transform Your Business?

Leaders are leveraging digital to become procurement organizations of one

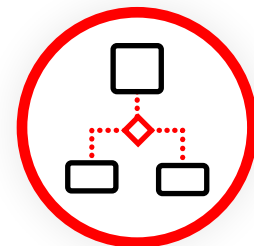

"One" with the business as an embedded team

Leaders foresee a "thin front line" of procurement professionals that, for example, help product development reduce time to market and solve production problems.

"One" with an expanded ecosystem of suppliers

Leaders are extending their supply networks, shedding ownership of physical assets and processes in favor of a portfolio of external organizations, and embracing innovators to gain competitive advantage.

"One" with re-imagined processes as digital evolves

Leaders expect a process revolution driven by the Industrial Internet of Things (IIoT). They see an opportunity to challenge the status quo and adopt disruptive innovations that dramatically boost procurement's value generated.

Now is the Time to Make Yours a Procurement Organization of One.

The first steps?

- Consider how radically digital will change your procurement organization's layout.
- Identify digital components that will enable the virtually integrated enterprise.
- Reconstruct your source-to-pay process with digital in mind.

Download the full report

Join the conversation:
@AccentureStrat