Our values

At Accenture, we understand the value that being a Military professional brings. Strong work ethic, commitment to excellence, attention to detail and ability to succeed in a challenging environment, exemplify many of the same core values our employees live at Accenture. The lessons and values learned as military men and women are transferable to the work that we do. Leadership, discipline, organization and teamwork are some of the areas in which military experience directly applies to our work. Accenture is proud of our vibrant Accenture Military Community comprising approximately 1,000 employees.

Our careers

Accenture is committed to supporting your transition from military to civilian work. We provide skills translation, mentoring and training programs to ensure your successful career with us. Last year we invested approximately $787 million in training and development. Our training programs leverage unparalleled tools and resources that are tailored to individual needs so you grow and develop continuously. You will also have the opportunity to learn from and be coached by the best in the business—supportive leaders and colleagues who can pass on their industry, technical and functional expertise.

Accenture Veteran Technology Training Program

We are pleased to offer the Accenture Veteran Technology Training Program. We have partnered with Udacity, an online university focused on bridging the gap between real-world skills, relevant education, and employment to offer a unique training program for military service members and veterans who want to pursue a career in technology and software engineering. The Accenture Veteran Technology Training Program is a two-month training program that will equip veterans with the technical skills they need to position themselves for employment as an entry level Software Engineering Associate with Accenture.
