High performance. Delivered.

Video transcript

Cimation is now part of Accenture.

Cimation is known for its work in process automation, information technology and industrial control system cyber security.

Together, we will provide end-to-end services to transform industrial asset operations to help clients better maintain, operate and optimize their wells, pipelines, refineries, chemical plants and mines.

“Accenture’s global consulting practice, combined with Cimation’s technical and process expertise, will allow us to develop and deliver comprehensive, best-in-class solutions for our clients from strategy and governance to systems integration and remediation.”
Jonathan Klein, Chief Executive Officer, Cimation.
