Accenture Is On The Bleeding Edge Of Business And Technology Change

Its Oracle practice exemplifies this enviable trait. The largest Oracle partner in terms of people and revenues by a significant margin, Accenture’s close alliance with the applications giant has propelled it ahead in the race to the cloud. Accenture has significant experience implementing the full suite of Oracle Cloud solutions and in cloud-enabling traditional Oracle applications such as E-Business Suite. Accenture combines its strong technology expertise with a worldwide network of labs and innovation centers, design experience capabilities from Accenture Interactive, renowned business consulting, and cutting-edge thought leadership.

Accenture attracts criticism for higher costs, but one reference told us that “Costs are higher than the market average — but the results make it worthwhile.” We also hear from clients that Accenture is not easy to use for small, quick projects. However, one large European public-sector client we surveyed told us that Accenture met the agreed five-month timeline.
We work with business and technology leaders to develop customer-obsessed strategies that drive growth.
